

Planner inspired to build better

■ Amanda Lewis

A town-planning background coupled with an obsession for detail stood Vas Spaseski in good stead when he decided to start a building company with his wife Danielle nine years ago.

Back then, Inspired Homes was run from the Spaseskis' home office with just their own home on the books.

Today, the award-winning company turns over 150-200 homes per year.

"Vas's persistent and consistent pursuit of excellence has resulted in a construction company with an outstanding track record for affordability, quality and integrity," Mrs Spaseski, who is Inspired Homes' operations manager, said.

"As a prominent and experienced town planner, he could see the need for affordable but high-quality housing and decided to put it all on the line to start Inspired Homes. Vas' knowledge of town planning and planning codes allowed him to utilise the space and get the best possible product for his clients."

Mr Spaseski said Inspired Homes was a one-stop shop for home builders and developers, handling everything from apartment developments, knock-downs and rebuilds to custom homes and even an interior design service.

"What sets us apart from other builders is that we are the specialists in handing over built complete products — you can simply turn the key and move in," the managing director said. "We understand that individuals are so busy in their day-to-day lives and don't have the time to run around getting quotes and visiting suppliers so we take the hassle out of building for you.

"We are the turn-key specialists and can offer built complete options for your new home that includes everything you can possibly think of to move into your new home. Things such as clotheslines, letterbox, dishwasher, air-conditioning, landscaping and reticulation are just a few of the small things that get missed by other builders.

"Our one goal is to ensure your project is an exceptional experience — not just a build."
